FEATURES

284 Hedging against erosion
Donal Kemper, Seth Dabney, Larry Kramer, Darrel Dominecy, and Tom Kemp

289 Wildlife and soil conservation
David Eabart

292 Carolina clover: High prospect for the Conservation Reserve Program
Dale H. Arner, Jeannie Jones, and Chris Bucchiantini

294 Strategies for building a conservation team
Thomas J. Hoban, IV

298 The role of indigenous soil knowledge in agricultural development
Roman R. Pawluk, Jonathan A. Sandor, Joseph A. Tabor

COMMENTARY

304 Making USDA more accountable
Senator Richard G. Lugar

RESEARCH

325 Effects of soil erosion on corn yields on Marlette soils in south-central Michigan
D. L. Mokma and M. A. Sietz

328 Costs of conventional and conservation tillage systems
Alfons Weersink, Michael Walker, Clarence Swanton, and James E. Shaw

334 Nitrogen leaching sensitivity to evapotranspiration and soil water storage estimates in EPIC
V. W. Benson, K. N. Potter, H. C. Bogusch, D. Goss, and J. R. Williams

338 Differential selenium accumulation among forage plant species grown in soils amended with selenium-enriched plant tissue
G. S. Barnuelos, R. Mead, L. Wu, P. Beuselinck, and S. Akoboue

342 Economics of transporting poultry litter to achieve more effective use as fertilizer
Darrell J. Bosc and Krishna B. Napit

DEPARTMENTS

278 SWCS view
280 Pen points
282 Viewpoint
306 Personal enrichment
308 In the news
320 Classified ads
321 Upcoming
322 Books, etc.

Cover
Big bluestem, growing on grassland in South Dakota.
Soil Conservation Service Photo by Tim McCabe.