

JOURNAL OF SOIL AND WATER Conservation

SEPTEMBER-OCTOBER 1994

VOLUME 49, NUMBER 5

FEATURES

430

COMMENTARY

420 Management considerations for returning CRP lands to crop production

M.J. Lindstrom, T.E. Schubmacher, and M.L. Blecha

426 An alternative approach to administering federal land retirement programs in Minnesota

David H. Bebm

430 Impact of conservation practices on airborne dust in the southern High Plains of Texas

R.T. Ervin and J.A. Lee

438 New roles for long-term cropland development

Clayton Ogg and Frank Kuch

LEGAL COMMENTARY

440 Dolan v. City of Tigard

James E. Holloway and Donald C. Guy

SWCS ANNUAL REPORT

470 Special insert

420

472 Research abstracts

473 Aggregate economic effects of CRP land

C.R. Taylor, H. Arlen Smith, James B. Robertson, and Richard T. Clark

477 Relationships among water quality options, fertilization practices, and cropland potential

James Pease and Darrell Bosch

484 Comparing performance of the conservation reserve programs in the West

Douglas Young, Amos Bechtel, and Roger Coupal

488 The CRP increases soil organic carbon

D.L. Gebhart

493 Changes in soil conservation attitudes

John E. Carlson, Barbara Schnabel, Curtis E. Beus, and Don A. Dillman

501 Characterization and evaluation of proposed hydrologic criteria for wetlands

R.W. Skaggs, D. Amatya, R.O. Evans, and J.E. Parsons

Cover

CRP land in Minnesota.
Photo provided courtesy of M.J. Lindstrom

DEPARTMENTS

416 SWCS view

418 Guest editorial

446 Product news

456 Books

468 Upcoming