JOURNAL OF SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION

JANUARY-FEBRUARY 1996
VOLUME 51, NUMBER 1

16

SWCS Policy

6 SWCS policy position: Municipal solid waste management

8 Encouraging re-mining and reclamation of abandoned mined lands in Appalachia: Policy options
George D. Santopietro and Carl E. Zipper

16 Guidelines for establishing warm season grass hedges for erosion control
C.L. Dennis, J. Henry, S. Bruckerhoff, J. Ritchie, S. Dalmoy, D. Shepherd, J. Douglas, and D. Wolf

21 Positioning soil survey for the 21st century
S.J. Indorante, R.L. McLeese, R.D. Hammer, B.W. Thompson, and D.L. Alexander

29 Creating integrated rural resource land information systems
Kurt W. Bauer

34 The Battisti family dairy farm: A profile
Rick Welsh

Commentary

38 The promise of precision agriculture
Richard M. Vanden Heuvel

Conservation Education

41 Water quality education for owners of small ranches
John Cobourn and Sue Donaldson

Research

62 Packing summer fallow in the Pacific Northwest
William F. Schillinger and Floyd E. Bolton

66 An evaluation of soil survey crop yield interpretations for two central Iowa farms
A.L. Steinwand, D.L. Karlen, and T.E. Fenton

71 Farm production systems of Mennonite and non-Mennonite land owner-operators in Ohio
Ted L. Napier and David G. Sommers

76 Contour ripping: A tillage strategy to improve water infiltration into frozen soil
J.L. Pikul Jr., D.E. Wilkins, J.K. Aase, and J.F. Zuzel

84 Potential for reducing leaching by managing water
N.L. Klocke, J.P. Schneekloth, and D.G. Watts

90 Sediment losses before and after stream fencing
L.B. Owens, W.M. Edwards, and R.W. Van Keuren

94 A regulatory approach to atrazine management: Evaluation of Wisconsin’s groundwater protection strategy
Steven A. Wolf and Peter J. Nowak

Departments

2 SWCS view
3 Pen points
46 Products
52 Books, etc.
58 Upcoming

Cover
Abandoned mined land site in Dickenson County, Virginia